Pixton for School Leaders

Some of Your Teachers Already Use Pixton. Here's Why it Belongs in Every Classroom.

Pixton is a multimodal writing platform used by over 100,000 teachers worldwide. Students create comics, graphic novels, storyboards or books that show what they understand, in any subject, at any grade level.

Choosing what belongs in a panel isn't that different from choosing what belongs in a paragraph. Except that students ask to use Pixton.

What Your Teachers Are Seeing

When students build in Pixton they are organizing their thinking, showing comprehension, and writing, all in the same task. The formats show a teacher what a student understood, and what they may have missed.

"I love using this as a way to assess student comprehension in any subject!"

— Brett F., middle school teacher, Minnesota

"Teachers can immediately discern how much of a story students comprehend by viewing their comics."

— Daniel M., elementary and high school teacher, Wisconsin

Why It Belongs in Your School

Most programs get rolled out to teachers. Pixton works the other way: teachers discover it, adopt it, and sometimes even pay for it out of their own pockets. A school-wide plan gives every classroom access to a tool teachers are already choosing to use.

One Tool, Every Subject

ELA, Social Studies, Science, Math, World Languages.

Every Learner

Effective for multilingual learners, developing to advanced readers and writers, and students with diverse learning needs.

No Extra Prep

Over 300 Lesson Ideas, 200+ Content Packs, and a time-saving Activity Maker. Aligned to curriculum standards.

What the Research Shows

Independently validated. ESSA Tier 2, validated by LXD Research.
Certified by Digital Promise for Research-Based Design and Learner Variability.

Students who created comics with Pixton scored twice as high on comprehension assessments as peers taught traditionally (Joneyd & Deris, 2019).

Use Pixton to demonstrate learning in ELA projects like Shakespeare.

Pixton is also great for language learning.
